

Australian Government

Department of Immigration and Citizenship

INSTRUCTIONS FOR EMPLOYMENT REFERENCES

Applicants for skilled migration must provide verifiable documentary evidence of skilled work experience covering the required period of employment.

Any employment evidence presented with the application must contain enough information to satisfy the visa decision maker that the applicant meets the work experience requirement.

For the assessment of the work experience requirement, employment references should contain the following information about the employee:

- Position/s held throughout the employment period
- Number of hours worked per week
- Main duties
- Exact period of employment (date of commencement and termination)
- Salary details

Employment references should also contain the following information about the employer:

- Contact details for the company including postal and street address, telephone and fax numbers, email and website addresses
- Contact details for the author of the employment reference including full name, position, telephone number and signature
- Organisation chart for the company where appropriate

If the applicant fails to provide sufficient evidence of employment, there is likely to be a significant delay in processing of the visa application.

Failure to provide satisfactory evidence of employment for the relevant period will result in refusal of the visa application.

people our business